Jack Prowell, 28, Well Known Illinois Sports Editor Dies at Champaign

Special Tribute
Will Be Paid in Huff
Gym Saturday Night

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Funeral services will be held Saturday for Jack Prowell, 28-year-old sports editor who fought a valiant but losing one-year battle against cancer.

Prowell, sports editor of the Champaign News-Gazette for five years and sports commentator on Champaign Television Station WCIA, died here Thursday.

Services will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Champaign, at 10:30 a. m. Burial will be Sunday at Harrisburg, where Prowell was born and reared.

Prowell learned a year ago that he had an incurable type of cancer. He underwent surgery in New York, however, and later returned to his desk. He remained at work until a month ago, when his condition became critical and he was hospitalized.

A letter was circulated by three leading Champaign sports figures today asking Prowell's friends to contribute to a "Jack Prowell fund," instead of sending flowers to his funeral.

Special Tribute Saturday

The fund will be used to help Prowell's widow and three young children to meet the tremendously expensive medical and hospital bills Prowell incurred in the past year, the letter said.

The letter said this would be a "useful memorial to a great guy who did a world of wonderful things in his short existence on this earth."

"He couldn't come out a winner, but he gave his best," it said.

Signers of the letter were Douglas R. Mills, University of Illinois athletic director; Shelby D. Himes, operator of a sporting goods business, and T. O. White, News-Gazette sports writer.

A special tribute will be paid to Prowell in Huff Gym Saturday night, five minutes before the title game of the Illinois prep basketball tournament.

Prowell had been sports editor of the newspaper since June, 1950. He also telecast sports shows over Champaign Station WCIA.

He was widely known in the field of sports, particularly in high school activities. He had selected an annual all-state football team for the News-Gazette for the past eight years.

Former Harrisburg Man
After learning he had cancer last year, Prowell went to New York to undergo an operation by a cancer specialist. Then he resumed his work at the newspaper and was active until he was stricken last month.

His last assignment for the newspaper was the Illinois-Michigan State basketball game Feb. 14.

Prowell's parents died when he was a child, and he was reared by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durfee, Harrisburg.

He was graduated from Harrisburg High School in 1943. While still in high school he was a mem-

Woman's Club 'Cross' Caravan Here Saturday

Saturday at 3:30 p. m. at the city hall is the time of the stop in this city by a caravan of regional directors of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs and the Board of Governors of the Bald Knob Christian Foundation.

Mrs. Theodore Chapman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Wayman Presley, Makanda, who originated the idea of "The Cross," and heads of the Bald Knob Christian Foundation, are expected to be in the caravan.

Mayor Ralph Horning said that everyone is invited to be present and especially the heads of various organizations. Mrs. J. L. Miller, president of the Harrisburg Woman's Club, has information that a Mrs. Bruce East St. Louis, regional president, and Mrs. Roy Milburn, New Burnside, district president, will be present. Members of the Harrisburg club and clubs at Norris City, Eldorado, McLeansboro, Carlinville, Oark-New Burnside, Ridgway, and Rosiclare, are expected to be present.

The Harrisburg club will offer the members of the caravan a cooling drink.

The caravan's next stop is at Cairo, which is headquarters of "The Cross" foundation.

Knowland Says Congress Was Misled by FDR

Opens Expected Arguments Between Democrats and GOP

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland charged today that President Roosevelt "misled" Congress when he reported in 1945 that the Yalta conference did not cover problems of the Pacific war.

"I think that comes near to being a false official report to a co-equal branch of the government," Knowland told the Senate. "I doubt that any president has the right to mislead Congress."

Knowland's brief speech was the opening gun in the expected off-and-on arguing between Democrats and Republicans over the long-secret Yalta documents which were made public Wednesday.

Knowland quoted from the Congressional Record on Roosevelt's report to Congress on March 1, 1945. He said the late President told the joint congressional session: "Quite naturally this conference (Yalta) concerned itself only with the European war and the political problems of Europe and not with the Pacific war."

The Yalta documents show that Mr. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill obtained from Soviet Premier Josef Stalin a pledge to come into the war against Japan two or three months after Germany's surrender. Roosevelt and Churchill agreed to territorial concessions to Russia in the Far East.

At the time Mr. Roosevelt reported in person to a joint session of Congress, Russia was not at war with Japan. Democrats have said in the past that the President could not have reported the Russian agreement to enter the Japanese war without revealing Pacific war strategy to the enemy.

Knowland said Yalta "dealt with many things" other than Europe, including Japan, Korea and "many other problems."

Knowland said the Yalta question should be discussed so that "we will not ever again have such a meeting where 'nations that are battered away have no voice' in their fate."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson replied by asking whether domestic politics led to release of the documents. He noted that Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Foreign Relations Committee had said their publication would have a bad effect on foreign relations.

He was a member of the Big Ridge Baptist church while living in Harrisburg, but was a member of a Presbyterian church in Champaign.

An aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, 520 East Poplar street, departed for Champaign this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Durfee, who had been visiting with their grandson and family, just returned to their home Sunday evening and did not make the return trip to Champaign today.

Dulles Favors Publication of Official Papers

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the publication of official documents by all countries would be a good thing for public information and historical accuracy.

He declined at a news conference to comment directly on British disappointment at the publication of the Yalta papers.

Replying to questions about British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's complaint that there were "serious mistakes" in the American version, Dulles said the full picture would not be obtained until each government publishes its own records.

Dulles is paying his first official visit to the Canadian capital. He was to meet after the news conference with Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and his Cabinet.

Dulles disagreed with suggestions that publication of the Yalta papers would make future confidential discussions more difficult between national leaders.

He said three volumes of personal memoirs already had been published by major participants in the Yalta conference. Having survived these three major hazards of publication, he said, he doubted whether a fourth publication would make future discussions any more difficult.

Citing the practice of American public figures of taking many of their papers with them when they leave office, he said it was possible that the private papers would be more accurate than government documents.

The Yalta documents were published at this time in the normal course of the State Department's practice of periodically publishing such papers, generally on a 10-year basis, Dulles said.

Owners Order Tanker to Proceed To Red China

HELSINKI (UP)—The owners of the tanker Aruba ordered its captain to proceed toward Red China with 13,000 tons of jet plane fuel today as long as its rebellious crew "continues to work."

Crewmen have served notice they will refuse to go past Singapore and risk the guns of Chinese Nationalist warships which have been ordered to intercept the tanker and seize her cargo.

The crew had demanded that the captain put into "the nearest available harbor," but the captain refused to stop at Ceylon and prepared if necessary to transship his jet fuel at a rendezvous in the open sea.

Nixon Bluntly Warns U. S. Will Use A-Weapons

CHICAGO (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon has laid "the facts on the line" about the atomic retaliation which would surely follow new Communist aggressions. Nixon spelled out the nation's "peace without surrender" policy in a crowded St. Patrick's Day schedule of three speeches and two news conferences here.

It was the third straight day that one of the nation's highest officials had issued a blunt warning that the U. S. would use atomic weapons in any new war.

Nixon told newsmen "I'm going to say it a little more bluntly," but denied that the administration is trying to prepare the American people for any new conflict. "We're just laying the facts on the line," he said.

Nixon said that: "Our artillery and our tactical air force in the Pacific are now equipped with atomic explosives which can be and will be used on military targets with precision and effectiveness."

The conventional weapons with which Americans fought in World War II and Korea are "obsolete." American Pacific forces couldn't fight "an effective war" with them even if they wanted to.

It would be "insanity and madness" for the Communists to launch new aggressions "in the face of the consequences we have made clear will follow."

But, he warned, the danger of the Formosa situation should not be underestimated. There won't be any war "if the Communists act like reasonable men," he said, "but dictatorial leaders... are always unpredictable."

Nixon's warnings echoed statements by President Eisenhower Wednesday and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Tuesday. Mr. Eisenhower said atomic weapons would be used with bullet-like precision in a new war, and Dulles also mentioned the use of atomic weapons in the Pacific.

The vice president hesitated to reveal his views so forcefully when he was questioned about the release of the Yalta documents.

He said he wanted to look at the documents before giving a detailed opinion, but his first impression was that concessions made to Russia at the conference were not a "deliberate attempt" to give things away.

The "mistake" of Yalta, he said, was "not one of the heart but one of the mind."

Grayville Woman Has Collection of 300 Life-Like Dolls in Elaborate Hobby

Mrs. H. L. Bass of Grayville is famous throughout Illinois, Indiana and many other states for her elaborate hobby of doll collecting.

The 300 dolls that Mrs. Bass has accumulated are not "baby" dolls but actual life-like "human beings" which have been bought all over the United States, in Cuba, Canada and many foreign countries. The dolls are dressed in fashions worn from 1780 to 1900 and their complete costumes, which are tailored, cost from 75 to 100 dollars each. Some of the figurines have rings, some have bracelets, necklaces, old fashioned beads and the "women" either carry a purse or a silk fan.

Mrs. Bass has given many doll shows, which are called "Doll Talk," and among the cities she has performed in are Carmi, Mt. Carmel and New Harmony, Ind. She plans to present a "Doll Talk" this spring in Evansville, Ind. Her collection has been widely publicized with articles and pictures in newspapers in southern Illinois and Indiana.

Three years ago Mrs. Bass held an open house to display her dolls and people were present from 17 states. Her husband is a physician in Grayville, and their home, which is a 20 room colonial southern home, was chosen as the most beautiful in Grayville. In this spa-

Shawneetown is Eliminated, 66-48

CHAMPAIGN (UP)—The Princeton Tigers, with six foot-eight-inch center, Joe Ruklick getting 29 points, soundly trounced a gallant bunch of Shawneetown Indians, 66-48, today in the first quarter-final game of the Illinois Sweet 16 basketball finals.

One Killed, 10 Hurt in Cage Tournery Traffic

DECATUR, Ill. (UP)—An Alton youth whose car was involved in a three-car crash that killed one person and injured 10 lost his right to drive on Illinois roads today.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter announced at Springfield that he was revoking the driver's license of Samuel E. Wells, 18, as a result of an accident in basketball tournament traffic Thursday.

Carpenter said he acted on the basis of an accident report made to him by Macon County Sheriff Charles Peebles.

The secretary of state said his action was taken under a section of the 1953 driver's license law authorizing him to revoke the license of anyone whose "unlawful operation" of a vehicle causes or contributes to an accident resulting in death or injury.

The sheriff's office said Wells was trying to pass a car driven by Willie Rainwater, 39, Monticello, on Ill. 48 south of Argenta when he saw an oncoming car.

Wells pulled back into his lane but his car brushed the rear of the Rainwater vehicle and sent it into the path of the oncoming auto driven by Claude W. Harris, Sr., 40, Decatur, authorities said.

Killed was Harris' 17-year-old son, Claude Jr. The injured included senior Harris; another son, Charles, 15; Dan Golembek, 17; Roger Day, 16; Robert Hopper, 15; and Richard Van Hook, 15, all of Decatur, from the Harris car; Rainwater and Rowena Secrest, 31, Monticello, from the Rainwater car; and Francis Bowman, 18, and Thomas Leonard, 18, both of Godfrey, in Wells' car.

The elder Harris, Rainwater, Miss Secrest and Golembek were in critical condition at Decatur and Macon County Hospital.

Wells and seven other teenagers were en route to Champaign, where Alton played Pinckneyville Thursday night in the prep basketball tourney. Harris and his passengers were returning from the tournament.

Open Branch Store at Eldorado to Serve Oil Operators, Drillers

The establishment of a branch store of the Bradford Supply company to serve oil operators and drilling contractors in the Eldorado area has been announced by D. W. Mackie Jr., president.

Increased activity in the area is responsible for the branch establishment. The Illinois Parole Board Thursday refused to reopen his case and denied his petition for a rehearing. It had already ruled that he could not seek parole until 1965.

The decision promised to mean more long, gray years behind bars for the brilliant millionaire's son who participated in one of the most notorious crimes of the 1920s.

Leopold and Richard Loeb, another brilliant "rich boy," killed 14-year-old Bobby Frank in 1924 for the thrill of committing a perfect crime.

Benson to Attend VA Conference At American Legion Home March 21

Robert S. Hull, commander American Legion Post No. 167, announces that L. R. Benson, director of Rehabilitation, the American Legion, will visit the post and attend the VA conference on the night of March 21.

Mr. Benson said: "I am timing my visit in order to attend the conference being arranged by Robert D. Beer, regional manager of the Veterans Administration. This conference is for the convenience of the volunteer service officers of all veteran organizations, as well as the officials of the VFW, the American Red Cross and other interested organizations. It gives me a chance to meet the service officers of the American Legion and to participate in the meeting which is for the benefit of all veterans and their dependents."

Since 1919, the American Legion has maintained a service department for the convenience of the veterans of the last three wars and for the dependents of deceased veterans. The Service Department of the Legion is staffed by 29 full time employees—nine of whom are claims experts—and services of all types are made available to all deserving veterans and their dependents. It includes a Child Welfare and Employment department, plus liaison service at five VA hospitals.

The cost of this free service made available by the Legion is approximately $125,000 per year. During the past year more than 50,000 claims of all types were handled and in 5,560 cases the Legion was able to secure original wards, or increases in compensation or pension and death benefits for dependents of deceased veterans amounting to approximately three million dollars.

The funds for the maintenance of the Service Department of the Legion come from the dues of the members and from the annual Poppy sale conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary and the American Legion throughout the state.

At 6 a. m. today a two-room cottage on the rear of 118 West Raymond caught fire and the house and furnishings were completely destroyed.

The home was owned by Ralph Ghoslon and occupied by John Choate, retired. The fire started when a kerosene stove in the kitchen exploded. Mr. Choate escaped unhurt.

The telephone company had a large cable running north and south along the alley and one of the poles was near the house. The pole caught fire and the cable was burned.

Millard Lynch, manager of the Harrisburg exchange, stated the cable contained 300 lines and more than 800 telephones were knocked out.

Work was started immediately to replace the burned pole and the damaged cable. Service should begin to return to normal this afternoon, it was stated by Mr. Lynch.

No other buildings in the neighborhood were damaged by the fire, Chief Ray Johnson reported.

The Harrisburg fire department also was called to the Junior high school at 6 p. m. Thursday to extinguish debris that caught fire from cutting torches. Chief Ray Johnson reports.

The blaze was extinguished by using booster tanks. There was no damage as the fire was confined to debris from the fire that destroyed the old addition of the Junior High school New Year's morning.

A membership reception for the young artists will be held in the educational building following the program. All members are cordially invited.

France is Only Major Power Still to Act

Approval is Also Given Franco-German Pact on Saar Area

BONN, Germany (UP)—The Bonn government completed ratification today of the Paris accords to re-arm 500,000 Germans as a defense force in the Western defense system against Communist aggression.

The West German upper house set its final stamp of approval on the set of treaties which restores German sovereignty, ends the Allied occupation and permits Germany to arm as a part of the Western European Union and NATO.

"What happened today means the wiping out of Yalta," Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said after the successful conclusion of his long and hard fight for ratification.

Of the major powers, only France has not completed ratification. The French upper house votes next week and if the accords pass then Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg were expected to follow swiftly. Britain and Italy have ratified the pacts.

Opponents Cite Yalta
At the same time, the Bundesrat (upper house) gave a grudging though final approval to the crisis-loaded Franco-German pact to Europeanize the 900-square-mile coal and steel territory between the two countries.

Passage of the Paris accords was a certainty. Approval of the unpopular agreement to place the Saar under a neutral commissioner until a German peace treaty was a different matter and there were fears that publication of the Yalta agreements would provide a fatal snag.

Opponents of the Saar agreement seized upon the Yalta secrets as proof of Anglo-American irresponsibility and French hatred. But Socialist efforts to delay this part of the "package agreement" was voted down by 21 to 17.

Altogether there were four agreements—all of them passed by the Bundestag or lower house at the end of last month. Passage of all four was necessary for them to come into effect. The four pacts were:

1. Italian and West German membership in the Western European Union (WEU) with Britain, France, Belgium and The Netherlands. This provides for the establishment of 12 West German divisions.

2. The restoration of West German sovereignty, signed by the three occupying powers, the United States, Britain and France. This ends Allied occupation but provides for the Western Allies to maintain a military presence in Germany by invitation of the Bonn government.

3. Admission of West Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, signed by the 14 NATO members. Germany pledges not to use its forces for reunification of Germany or to change the West German frontiers.

4. The Saar agreement, signed by France and West Germany. A neutral commissioner would handle its defense and foreign affairs and local officials would handle internal affairs. The disputed area, desired by both Germany and France, would remain "Europeanized" until the German peace treaty is signed.

Adenauer's Party Silent
Adenauer's government, fearful that the Yalta agreements might complicate German and French ratification, remained silent, willing to let by-gones be by-gones.

In a session lasting barely one hour, the upper house approved the treaty restoring German sovereignty by a vote of 29 to 9.

It ruled it had "no objection" to the treaties rearming West Germany under NATO and WEU and ruled that its approval was not necessary for the Saar agreement. Then it defeated a Socialist motion to send the Saar pact to a House-Senate arbitration committee.

Second-Term Pressure

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Now that President Eisenhower is getting used to the beds at his Gettysburg farm, some Republican potentates are losing some of their assurance that he will run for another term next year.

And the White House correspondents, who never let the subject rest, anyway, find that this farm business gives them a fresh angle from which to play their probing game.

Mr. Eisenhower recently tried to fend them off for a while by proposing that they lay aside their inquiries until about this time in 1956. They are no more likely to heed this plea than he is to answer their big question.

Meanwhile, it's perhaps useful to see what modern history shows on this matter of presidents seeking second terms.

Since 1860 we have had 17 presidents, not including Mr. Eisenhower — two—Garfield and Harding—died before completing their first terms, and so never faced a decision about a second.

Out of the remaining 15, a total of 13 either were elected for two terms, served part of a second term, or tried to win a second nomination or election.

The only two who do not fall into these categories are Andrew Johnson and Rutherford B. Hayes.
Hayes, who was elected in 1876, simply refused to stand again in 1880. Johnson, a Democrat who succeeded to the presidency upon the death of Lincoln, never got any consideration from his party in 1868. He was under a cloud because of his narrow acquittal that year on impeachment charges.

Thus, with the exception of these two men, everyone who has occupied the White House in the past 95 years has either served more than the basic four years or has tried to.

This history undoubtedly measures several things. It's a gauge of the ambitions of men. It measures the nature of the job, which seems to repel many men at the outset, and then slowly to win them, until finally they become convinced that the carrying on of useful national programs is safest in their own hands. And it measures, too, the pressures that build up to continue a popular President in office as the keystone of party success.

Those who know Mr. Eisenhower well say ambition never will bite him. And they doubt that mere party arguments will persuade him. What they count on is convincing him that he is necessary to the country's welfare, especially to its quest for lasting peace.

The point may not be easy to put across. Ike doesn't believe in indispensable men. But the record of history is impressive. The pressures and influences that take a man beyond a single term are surely powerful. And they will be working full tilt on President Eisenhower between now and the spring of 1956.

We are beginning to write the inevitable sequel to any true dealings with the Communists. Our government has informed Sweden and Switzerland that we agree with their proposal to scrap the Korean armistice commission as useless.
Strong evidence exists that the Reds have repeatedly violated the truce terms, most particularly by bringing jet aircraft into North Korea. But the commission, blocked by the reluctance of its two Communist members, Poland and Czechoslovakia, has done nothing about the violations.

Swedish and Swiss representatives have complained many times that it is impossible to check for compliance as required by the truce.

Thus it has become obvious to us as well as to them that managing the armistice is a meaningless farce. The only sensible thing is end the pretense and the waste motion.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Drew Pearson Says: Synthetic Rubber Factory Sale Will Cause Rubber Prices to Soar; British to Observe U. S. Atomic Experiments; Stassen Black-Lists Some American Colleges.

WASHINGTON — Congressman
Wright Patman of Texas, chief defender of little business, has made an important prediction which I hope will not be 33 per cent accurate. He predicts that the price of rubber — and proportionately the tires you buy — will go up to 30 cents a pound this year.

The price is now 38 cents. But already, says Patman, it's gone up from 22 cents on the prospect that the big tire and oil companies will control all the synthetic rubber of the U. S. A. after they get the government rubber plants on March 26.

"The price may even go up to 30 cents a pound if Congress approves this deal," Patman told his colleagues. "There's nothing to stop it. And the little man will have to depend upon the big monopolies for his supply. If the price goes up, as it did in the case of aluminum, the little rubber fabri-cators will be squeezed out of business just as the small aluminum fabricators were squeezed out."

Congressman Sterling Cole of New York, a Republican whose father-in-law is a high official of Corning Glass, and who wants to go even further than Eisenhower in giving government-developed atomic patents to big business, tried to put Patman on the spot.
He asked when he had made up his mind to introduce a resolution stopping the sale of the government factories.

"Honestly, my friend," replied Patman, "I thought that this was such a raw deal that somebody on your committee would introduce the resolution, or that the committee would otherwise take steps to stop the transaction. I only came in when it was absolutely necessary."

Cole didn't reply. Patman forced Democratic chairman Vinson also to run to cover when Vinson contended that small rubber fabri-cators would be protected by the Justice department under our antitrust laws if the big rubber companies shut off their supplies after taking over the government plants.
"Mr. Chairman, you are not that naive," questioned Patman. "That is just like sending a rabbit to the corner grocery to get a head of lettuce."

Amid laughter, the Texan explained: "They (the big companies) are going to take care of themselves first."

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

The State Department doesn't want it advertised, but a British scientific team has been invited to observe the atomic tests in Nevada. This is in keeping with the new law permitting greater exchange of atomic information with our allies. Britain's leading nuclear scientist, Sir William Penney, will head the British mission.

What worries the State Department is that the McCarthyites might raise a clamor, citing the cases of two British atomic scientists—Klaus Fuchs, who was informed of slipping atomic information to the Russians, and Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo, who deserted behind the Iron Curtain.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have recommended a joint Chinese-American command to take over the defense of Formosa. This may lead to the appointment of an American as Chiang Kai-shek's chief of staff, the same as in World War II. . . .
Gen. James Van Fleet has been assigned to get the job ever since he returned from the Far East on a special survey mission for President Eisenhower.

Stassen's Black List

It isn't supposed to be known, but Harold Stassen has a black list for American colleges and universities.

Stassen has used a long string of colleges to help in foreign aid, and most of them are doing good jobs. The University of California is assisting the University of Indonesia in developing its medical school. Columbia's Teachers College in New York is helping to set up teachers colleges in Afghanistan. Cornell is expanding the agricultural branch of the University of the Philippines. Georgetown University is assisting five Yugo-slav universities in establishing English language institutes.

However, on Stassen's black list are Syracuse University's School of Public Administration and Roosevelt College in Chicago. They get no invitations to help in overseas aid.

When Dr. Roscoe Martin, Dean of Political Science at Syracuse, heard about the black list, he came to Washington.

"You'll never get a contract until Paul Appleby leaves your school," Dean Martin was told by Stassen's office.

Appleby happens to have been right-hand assistant to Henry Wallace when he was Secretary of Agriculture, and a close friend of Milton Eisenhower, once also a top assistant to Wallace. In fact, both Appleby and Wallace intervened to keep Milton in the Agriculture Department when he was serving as a holdover Republican appointment in the Hoover administration.
Jim Farley wanted to kick him out,
but, thanks to Wallace and Appleby, he remained.

Roosevelt College in Chicago is on the Stassen black list not so much because of its name but because it was established with union-labor backing and is closely identified with the labor movement.

Note 1—Appleby has been appointed by Gov. Averell Harriman to the New York State Budget director, so perhaps Syracuse will now be removed from Stassen's black list.

Review Board Reduces Sentence Of Army Officer

CAMP GORDON, Ga. (UP)—Army officials said today a review board has drastically reduced the sentence of a young lieutenant convicted of ordering sand baths and mock burials for his trainees.

Second Lt. Charles C. Anderson, sentenced to dismissal from the service and forfeiture of all pay and allowances after a publicized court martial trial, will be only made to pay a fine under the reduced sentence of the review board in Washington.

Second Lt. Patrick Towle, Camp Gordon public information officer, announced that the review board reduced the sentence of the 24-year-old officer to a $450 fine to be paid over a six months period.

A 10-officer court martial board on Nov. 19 found Anderson guilty of "humiliating and harassing" young trainees after hearing testimony of nine soldiers who witnessed the alleged brutal treatment.

Area State Senators Introduce Bill to Aid SIU Building Program

Sen. Glen O. Jones of Raleigh, Sen. Homer Butler of Marion and Sen. R. G. Crisenberry of Murphysboro this week introduced a bill in the state senate designed to aid Southern Illinois university with its building program.

The bill gives the SIU trustees the power to issue revenue bonds to construct buildings that are revenue-producing structures, such as dormitories, dining halls and athletic buildings.

This bill, Sen. Jones explained, would give the school the opportunity to begin its program of construction without waiting entirely for appropriations from the legislature.

Peach Orchards Near Full Bloom

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UP)—Southern Illinois peach orchards today were close to bursting out in full bloom, with their blossoming time dependent upon the weather.

The secretary of the Illinois Fruit Council, Harold Hartley of Carbondale, said lower temperatures this week in the orchard area slowed down the blossoming. Hartley said that if temperatures rise during the weekend, the pink blossoms may open all the way by Sunday.

At present, orchards in the southern tip of the state are very close to full bloom and those in the Anna-Cobden area are 50 to 75 per cent in bloom.

Hartley said there doesn't appear to be any danger at present that frost would damage the blossoms and cut the 1955 peach crop. If the blossoms are undamaged, there are prospects of a 1,000,000 bushel Illinois peach crop of which 800,000 bushels will be offered for market sales.

Find 3 Children Near Bodies of Man and Woman

LAS CRUCES, N. M. (AP)—Three small, emaciated children found wandering near the bodies of a man and woman in a dry bed of the Rio Grande river underwent treatment today for extreme exposure and malnutrition.

The children apparently had been without food or water since Sunday. Three men cutting salt cedars along the river bed found them Thursday walking listlessly around in the sand.

"The man in the red car shot my mother," Dolores Vasquez, 12, told the men.

The victims—both slain by a 22-calibre rifle found at the scene—were identified as Arthur C. Peterson, about 65, and Monica Vasquez, 42.

The children were identified as Ramona Murphy, 2, Dolores, and Ricardo Vasquez, 4. The two older children were the son and daughter of Mrs. Vasquez and the smallest child was her granddaughter.

The red car mentioned by Dolores was parked in heavy brush a few feet away from where the bodies were found.

Authorities estimated the adults had been dead since Sunday and said the three children had had no visible means of shelter or subsistence since that time.

Mrs. Vasquez was a resident of Las Cruces and Peterson apparently had lived there the past few weeks.

Authorities refused to speculate whether the deaths were a murder-suicide in view of the fact the children had been abandoned and apparently were eyewitnesses to whatever occurred.

House Group Votes $2.3 Billion For Labor Dep't

By United Press

The House Appropriations Committee voted $2,337,522,261 today to run the Labor Department, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and related agencies in the fiscal year starting July 1.

It denied all requests by the agencies for emergency activities such as civil defense planning and a possible labor draft in event of atomic war. Money for the Civil Defense Administration itself was not involved in today's action.

A subcommittee report said requested civil defense items represented "confusion and waste of public funds." It told the administration to consolidate its civil defense requests in a single package.

In one of the items approved, the committee gave President Eisenhower more than he asked. It voted an additional $750,000 for research on mentally retarded children.

Other congressional news:

MARKET: Sens. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) and J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) quarrelled again about the stock market investigation Fulbright is conducting as chairman of the Senate Banking Committee. Capehart said the inquiry's purpose is "to harass the Eisenhower administration and business in the United States." Fulbright suggested he save his charges for closed committee sessions. Capehart said he wouldn't.

HIGHWAYS: Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said President Eisenhower's 101-billion-dollar highway program would "do more to destroy honest financing than anything else in history. The administration contends its selling of special bonds to finance the program would not add to the federal debt. Byrd says it would.

PERESS: Col. Ruluff F. Leverich, former Maj. Irving Peress's superior at Camp Kilmer, N. J., said he watched and eavesdropped on the New York dentist at the request of Army Intelligence. Senators investigating the who-promoted-Peress case asked if he got "any derogatory information." Leverich replied, "None whatever." Peress was "readjusted in rank" from captain to major and given an honorable discharge despite his refusal to fill out loyalty forms.

Four 'Whooping' Bandits Rob Bank of $54,285

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (AP)—It took just 60 seconds for four bandits, "whooping and hollering like Indians," to throw the River Forest State Bank into an uproar and escape with $54,285 Thursday.

The masked bandits used split-second timing and screaming shock tactics to make their quick getaway in a stolen car driven by a fifth man.

They even made sure they wouldn't be bothered by police. A fake holdup alarm had been turned in on the other side of town. The decoyed officers couldn't get to the bank until 7 minutes after the bandits drove off.

Assistant Cashier Hans Grude, 38, said the bandits made their entrance "whooping and hollering like Indians. It looked like a masquerade party."

One bandit wore a false nose, another a stocking cap pulled over his face. They were armed with Luger pistols and a submachine gun.

One bandit screamed at everybody to put up their hands. Another told them to keep them down. The first bandit then ordered everybody to stand up. The second told them to sit down.

Then the team got down to business. They scooped up $50,000 from one cash drawer, $4,285 from others, and, with a yell of "Let's get out of here," ran for their car.

J. Wayne Green, eminent Trichologist, demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented.

How to Have Hair For a Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist

Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive interview by Steven Bright

WICHITA (Special) — J. Wayne Green, Director of Rogers, Inc., Hair and Scalp Specialists, exploded the myth of baldness today in an exclusive interview.

"Baldness is unnecessary, costly, and a plague to mankind," says Green. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Rogers method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness—can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair—can make you look youthful again."

Demonstration To Be Held In Harrisburg, Ill.

This revolutionary method of home treatment for the hair and scalp will be demonstrated in Harrisburg, Ill., Tuesday ONLY, March 22, at the Horning Hotel. Trichologist L. R. Martin will conduct the private, individual interviews from 12 noon until 9 p. m. on Tuesday ONLY. There is no cost or obligation, and you need no appointment.

Reason for Baldness

"There is always a reason for baldness," continued this nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised cannot be expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women, too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament—hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today!"

Heredity Not Involved

Trichologist Green dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness—heredity. "Mankind's unrealistic belief that baldness is hereditary stems from a misinterpretation of the facts."

DODGERS SELL PALICA TO BALTIMORE

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the sale of pitcher Erv Palica to the Baltimore Orioles as a replacement for Preacher Roe, recently retired southpaw who was originally sold to the Orioles with infielder Billy Cox last December.

As part of today's deal, the Dodgers obtained first baseman Frank Keller from the Orioles plus additional cash.

Palica, who broke in with Brooklyn in 1947, had a 13-8 record in 1950 but his lifetime big league record is only 32 wins and 32 losses.

BONUS PITCHER MAY BECOME STARTER

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Bonus pitcher Bob Miller repaid Bucky Harris' confidence in him today with a sparkling performance that indicated he could develop into a starting pitcher for the Detroit Tigers this year.

Miller allowed only one run in five innings Thursday as the Tigers beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2.

DUROCHER PRAISES JANSEN'S COMEBACK

LAS VEGAS (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants praised veteran Larry Jansen's comeback attempt today as the world champions resumed their 18-game spring series with the Cleveland Indians.

"From what he showed me so far, I'll just have to give him a chance above some of the younger fellows," Durocher said of Jansen.

The Giants were idle Thursday while the Indians bowed to the Chicago Cubs, 8-7, in 11 innings.

MIKIS, TAPPE HIT HOMERS FOR CUBS

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Eddie Mikis and Ted Tappe continued their heavy hitting for the Chicago Cubs today as they met the Cleveland Indians "B" team in a Grapefruit league game.

Mikis and Tappe each hit their second homers of the spring Thursday in the Cubs' 8-7, 11-inning win over the Indians' "A" squad. Bob Rush also starred for the Cubs, striking out six batters in four innings.

SENATORS WIN FOUR IN ROW

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Washington Senators were trying for the longest winning streak of the Grapefruit league campaign so far today when they took on the Baltimore Orioles.

The Senators made it four victories in a row Thursday when they beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 6-4, with the aid of homers by Eddie Yost and Tom Umphlett.

The Orioles beat Brooklyn, 5-4, Thursday for their second straight triumph over the hard-hitting Dodgers.

WHITE SOX LOSE DOUBLEHEADER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—It'll be quite all right with Manager Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox if Thursday was a "once-in-a-lifetime" proposition.

Marion awoke with a touch of puerility which eventually bedded him and his White Sox made matters worse by losing a "doubleheader." The varsity was walloped, 8-2, by the Kansas City Athletics after the "B" team bowed to the Cincinnati Redlegs' "B" team, 4-2, in a morning contest.

U. S. Takes 133 Point Lead in Pan American Games

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Relentless U. S. athletes, with the Pan-American Games title already clinched, pressed for more gold medals today as the fifth day of competition got underway.

Winning four more first places in five final events Thursday, the Yanks boosted their point total to 335—giving them a 133 point lead over defending champion Argentina.

The highlight performance Thursday was the record-smashing triumph of young Mildred McDaniels of Atlanta, Ga., who set a new games mark in the high jump for women with a leap of 5-feet, 6 1/4 inches.

As great as her performance was, the Wes Santee-Juan Miranda stretch duel in a 1500-meter race preliminary was the thriller.

Officials first took a look at the pictures of the photo finish and declared it was a dead heat. Upon further consideration they changed their decision to give Miranda first by a hair. The time was 4:06.4.

The foils title in the fencing department went to H. D. Goldsmith of New York, who won seven of eight matches. Another U. S. man, Albert Axelrod of Bronx, N. Y., finished second.

Bud Held, the minister from Lakeside, Calif., won a gold medal in the javelin with a toss of 228 feet, 10 1/2 inches to crack the old mark; and Jack Davis, former USC speedster from Los Angeles, won the 110-meter high hurdles.

The lone gold medal that escaped the Americans was the 80-meter hurdles for women won by Eliana Gaete of Chile.

Begin Survey to Learn Cause of Mental Retardation

Word was received today by the Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children that a unique survey in the field of mental retardation has been announced by the National Association for Retarded Children and the Association for the Aid of Crippled Children. It is believed to be the first of its kind. The Saline county association is a member unit of the National Association for Retarded Children.

The two national organizations are cooperating in making possible a review of what is being done to determine the cause, prevention and treatment of mental retardation. Dr. Richard L. Masland, associate professor of psychiatry and neurology at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, N. C., is taking a year's leave of absence from his present work to conduct the survey.

"Indicative of the vital need for this survey," the announcement by the two associations said, "is the fact that in the United States about one out of every thirty children is born with some degree of mental retardation." An additional percentage have infantile illnesses which leave them mentally retarded, the announcement noted.

The National Association for Retarded Children hopes to make this first survey the foundation for a broad future research program.

Father, Son Go to Deaths in Electric Chair

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A father and son went to their deaths in the electric chair today for killing a Louisville lawyer.

The father died whispering the Lord's Prayer. His son angrily condemned those who watched the first double execution in Kentucky's history.

Executed were Roy Tarrance, 49, and son Leonard, 26. They paid with their lives for the fatal beating of Francis McCormack on Feb. 28, 1952. McCormack had represented Leonard's wife in legal action against young Tarrance.

The two bludgeoned McCormack in an alley in Louisville and threw his weighted body into a creek east of the city.

A hood was placed over the calm father's head at 12:07 a. m. and he died within minutes after two charges flashed through his body.

The son waited in a cell across the corridor from the death chamber, but could not see the execution. He read a long, prepared statement as he was strapped to the chair, condemning those present for his death and his father's.

"There will be many persons suffering in hell for what you have done to us," he said.

Young Tarrance told the Rev. Elmer Purseley, a local Methodist minister who spent the last two hours with him. "I'll see you in heaven." Then he said goodby to Deputy Warden Lloyd Armstrong and died two minutes after two consecutive charges shot through his body. He was pronounced dead at 12:26 a. m.

The bodies were shipped to Louisville where relatives were to claim them for burial.

Snapshots of Sweet Sixteen

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Snapshots from the "Sweet 16" scene: Many radio and television broadcasters as well as Western Union telegraphers went off the air for about four minutes during the Rockford West-Decatur game Thursday when overloaded fuses burned out in the Huff Gym electrical system. The heavy drain of electricity by television equipment was blamed for the fuse blowouts.

Newsmen and fans Thursday were saddened by news of the death of Jack Prowell, 28, Champaign News-Gazette sports editor and WCA-TV commentator. Prowell's interest in and promotion of the Sweet 16 during his news career had made him a part of that event. It seemed almost logical that his year-long fatal illness should be climaxed by his death at a time when so many of those he knew in sports and journalism were here.

Marshall Coach Isadore Salario, whose Chicago Public League champs were beaten by Quincy, won the Chicago crown in his first year at the Marshall helm. He said the school's athletic director, who developed the team, told him last October he'd be bringing a team to the state finals. "He knew what we had and knew we'd be on top," Salario said. The Marshall coaching staff said for the past year eager college "loyal alumni" have had to be told to "lay off." "Little Artha" Day, 6-8 Commando center, until he graduates.

For those who shed a sad tear over the many fine teams that lost their first game at the state finals, let the words of Decatur Coach Gay Kintner, who had taken a record-tying 11 teams to the finals, be your philosophy. Said Kintner after his team was overtaken and beaten by Rockford West: "They were a fine team. But they made mistakes."

Pinckneyville Coach Merrill (Duster) Thomas has joined his players and "Pinck" fans in wearing a pink tie and pink socks at the tourney. Pink shirts and sweaters were also prevalent among the Panther gentry.

Former Springfield and Canton Coach Mark Peterman, who preceded Kintner and Ernie Eveland of Paris in bringing 11 teams to the finals, noted the forecasters are off base again. "Last year they ranked Pinckneyville as a favorite here along with Du Sable," Pete said. "So this year they come back with three starters from that young team and nobody gives them a chance." Peterman said regardless of how the Panthers do here, "they've already had the honor of beating the best team in the state—Centralia."

University of Illinois sports publicist Chuck Flynn, who arranges news coverage of the Sweet 16, got a telegram from Bob Worley, Centralia Evening Sentinel sports editor. The once-hopeful Worley, who saw Centralia ousted in sectional play, asked Flynn to change his Sweet 16 reservations from 1955 to 1956.

Georgetown Buffalo fans brought a paper mache buffalo onto the floor when the Buffs played Elgin Wednesday. But Georgetown was badly trounced and it was another case of "the vanishing buffalo."

Two unusual fouls were called in Thursday play. In the Peoria Spalding-Lincoln game, the referees ruled a player who got off a successful shot was actually fouled after getting rid of the ball, not in the act of shooting, and therefore should get two free throws. Many fans thought only one free throw should have been allowed.

In the Pinckneyville-Alton tilt, the officials called a technical foul on the Alton coach for talking to his players on the floor during play.

Local Boosters Send Telegrams To the Indians

The Shawneetown high school basketball Indians have received many "congratulations and best wishes" telegrams from cage fans in this area. Wayne Burbank, manager of the Harrisburg Western Union office stated today.

A telegram containing more than 1,000 names from "Harrisburg Boosters" has been sent to the Indians at their headquarters in Champaign and in addition an "unknown number" of individual wires from Harrisburg fans have also been sent. Burbank stated, "We have been so busy I have lost count." Burbank said.

Four Harrisburg men—Don Garrison, Charley Walker, "Slat" Dewey and Lawrence George—started the "Booster telegram." Heading the list of names was Mayor Ralph Horning Jr.

Once the idea was suggested it caught on rapidly and was given a push by being announced yesterday over WEBQ and WSIL-TV.

The telegram will be approximately 24 feet long, the longest to ever be sent from the Harrisburg office.

Other communities in the area have joined in sending along best wishes. Burbank stated 150 in-

A few comments on the first—Wednesday's session of the state high school basketball tournament.

Of course the big item of interest in these parts was the Shawneetown Indians, winners over a big Rich township team.

Shawneetown's backing was all from Little Egypt before game time. Fans from other parts of the state didn't take the Indians' chances seriously and even though the players caught the fancy of the fans, the experts still were not convinced. "Too little" seemed to be the main reason the dopsters couldn't go with Shawneetown.

However, height hasn't bothered Shawneetown so far. A Carrier Mills fan quoted Bobby Spotsville, Indian guard, as saying "It isn't how tall a guy is, but how high can he jump that counts." So far Shawneetown has been the best jumping team in tourney play—that includes regional, sectional and state.

"Big Jack" Nolen, as he is referred to around here, wasn't so big at the state. Nolen stands 6-3 and he took full advantage of his size and played a fine game, but this will give you an idea of the size of some of the other players.

Rich's lineup included Lloyd Rose at 6-5, Ralph Meyers 6-4, Jim Denman 6-3, a couple of 6-2 boys, one at 6-1 and two more 6-0.

In the tourney opener Princeton had on display the tallest performer, Joe Ruklick, 6-8. He has scored some 800 points this season. And Moline, Princeton's opponent, sported Kenny Anderson at 6-4 and Whitey Verstraete 6-3. Verstraete was one of the standout players of the first day.

Elgin had the tallest bunch, with seven over six feet. Rachow at 6-6 was tops, followed by Seigmist at 6-5, then Aley 6-4, Smith and Schurmeier 6-2, and Zimmer and Lamp 6-1. Georgetown, completely outclassed by Elgin, had three players that pushed 6-2, but they were lost moving among the Elgin tall boys.

The final game of Wednesday's session was the only running, jumping, shooting one of the day, but even in this fast moving game it was size that paid off. Youngquist and Granning, 6-4, gave Galesburg the boost it needed to beat Paris. Youngquist had 24 and Granning 25.

Yep, good, big boys are wonderful to have and usually are the stars. But a little 5-10 guy, Garrison Newsom of Shawneetown, was the day's top star. So basketball isn't necessarily a big man's game—but a Newsom doesn't come along every day. A good big man most always will outplay a good little man.

There is only one thing wrong with attending the state tourney. It's a long way from up there back to Harrisburg. Made the trip with Jim Reid, Frank Blackman and Parish Miller of Carrier Mills. Left here about 6:30 a. m. and got home Thursday morning after 3. That's a long day—but worth it once a year.

Individual telegrams and one with 125 names from the Eldorado high school boosters went out from Eldorado.

From Norris City a telegram containing 200 names went out and three separate telegrams were sent from Carrier Mills. One had 90 names of high school students, another contained all the names of the boost club and the third was from the Carrier Mills village board, signed by Mayor Freeman O'Keefe and the six trustees.

The entire student body of Equality high school wired their best wishes and an undetermined number have originated in Shawneetown.

McKinnis to Speak At Carrier Mills Athletic Banquet

Paul McKinnis

Paul McKinnis, principal of the Washington school in Eldorado, will be guest speaker at the Carrier Mills high school athletic banquet Monday evening.

Mr. McKinnis is well known in athletic circles, starting in football, basketball and track at Eldorado Township high school and later playing football in college, both at SIU, Carbondale and George Washington university, Washington, D. C.

For many years he officiated in high school and smaller college games and for the past two years has officiated both football and basketball in the Big Ten conference.

Last fall he spent a month in Europe lecturing at officiating clinics for American and Allied troops. He was one of two Big Ten officials selected for the tour. The other was Sam W. Madden of Detroit.

The athletic banquet, sponsored by the Carrier Mills Lions club, will be held at the Carrier Mills Masonic temple, starting at 6:30 p. m. The women from the Order of Eastern Star will prepare and serve the meal and members of the CMCHS home-economic department, under the direction of Mrs. Harold James, are in charge of decorations.

Tickets for the banquet and program, at $1.50, may be purchased at the Carrier Mills high school office or at Henshaw's Clothing store.

'Always Figured We Could Make Sweet Sixteen,' Garrison Newsom Says

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — "We always wanted to come to the Sweet 16, and we figured if we were going to do it, we better do it this year—because after this, there ain't no more."

That's what Garrison Newsom, a star of unbeaten Shawneetown, smallest school in the state prep cage finals, gave as his reaction to playing in the biggest event in high school sports.

Newsom was referring to the Illinois High School Association's announced intention to reduce the "Sweet 16" to an eight-team final round next year.

The Shawneetown Indians were among those asked to answer the question: "How do you feel just before your first game in the Sweet 16?"

The Indians, like all the other players asked, insisted they didn't feel nervous at all. Newsom said he had played with all but three of his teammates since grade school and they had been talking of getting into the Sweet 16 since the end of last season.

"We figured then we could make it," he said. "And when we got here it was just like any other game."

Shawneetown Coach Barney Genisio said he wanted to set the record straight about something else. He said he was tired of reading a "second-hand" quote to the effect "I haven't coached these boys at all, just threw a ball to them and let them play."

Genisio said he never made that statement. "I may not be the best coach in the business but I like coaching and I think any coach will tell you that you can't win 32 games by throwing a ball to a bunch of boys."

Pinckneyville to Play Quincy; West Rockford Ousts Decatur, 58-54

CHAMPAIGN (AP) — The "Sweet Sixteen" favorite's mantle today rested snugly on the shoulders of the giant Rockford West Warriors, who won a come-from-behind, first-round thriller.

The Warriors, almost matched in size and talent by Decatur's Reds, won Thursday's "big one," 58-54, with an 18-point fourth-quarter drive.

The other Thursday winners in the Illinois High School Basketball Tournament were under-rated Lincoln, 54-52 victory over Peoria Spalding; Quincy, a convincing 70-58 victor over Chicago Marshall; and the plodding Panthers of Pinckneyville, who staved off a closing Alton rally to win 66-60.

These four teams joined Wednesday's upper-bracket winners on today's quarter-final program.

In the afternoon, once-beaten Princeton was matched with unbeaten Shawneetown, and Elgin's darkhorse Maroons were pitted against Galesburg. Tonight Rockford West takes the floor against Lincoln and Quincy meets Pinckneyville.

The Turning Point
So close was the Rockford West-Decatur game that Decatur Coach Gay Kintner, one of the "big four" coaches in Illinois prep cage annuals, said the turning point came on a single defensive play.

Kintner said the play that beat Decatur was Warrior Nolden Gentry's block of hard-driving Decatur forward Jim Lee's intended jump shot in the final minute of play. Lee was firing from eight feet out on a shot he had hit at longer distances four times in the second half.

"That block beat us," Kintner said. "You've got to remember this Gentry is quite a ball player. Then my two big boys didn't hit. That made the difference."

Kintner meant that Jim Maguire, the Red's 6-foot-7-inch center who did a great job rebounding, and Carroll Larr, 6-foot-6 high scorer for Decatur, got a total of 15 points, Larry getting 12 of these.

Gentry, 6 feet 6 inches, not only matched Maguire for rebounding honors, but got 21 points. He was ably assisted by center John Wesels with 15 and sharpshooting forward Rodney Coffman with 12.

Both teams ganged up under the boards as the game opened and they tried to pass in to the tall men, five of them 6-feet-5 or better. The first quarter score was 10-11, but in the second quarter the Warriors out-rebounded their foes, forcing the Reds to open up from long range, and Lee got three of his favorite jump shots.

Then the Warriors showed they could run, too, with Wesels, Gentry, Grabow and Coffman all counting on fast breaks. The half ended with Rockford West in front 27-26. But Decatur, with Lee hitting eight points stormed into a 42-40 lead after three stanzas. The lead sea-sawed back and forth until the Warriors went ahead to stay with 2½ minutes left.

Rockford outshot the Reds, 333 to 227, from the floor.

Lincoln came from far back to nose out Peoria Spalding. Out-rebounded by Lincoln in the first quarter and trailing 18-15, Spalding opened up with a second quarter offensive passing attack that moved the ball fast and far, scattering the close-knit Lincoln zone all over the court.

Pinckneyville couldn't do anything wrong in the first half against Alton, leading 36-23 at intermission.

Pinckneyville Coach Merrill (Duster) Thomas in this stanza looked like a general viewing war game—he knew the Alton Redbirds weren't using real bullets.

But in the second half, even though Tom Nally, Larry Holmes and Elias Smith, three of the rugged rebounding Alton crew, each had four fouls, the Redbirds dominated the boards and the floor play.

allow the Panthers to set up their air tight closed-in zone defense. Redbird forward Gene Velloff, who led his team with 19 points, took care of the outside scoring. Smith drove in for counters, and Essie Robinson and Nally hit the rebound in an 18 point third-quarter rally.

But the Panthers, their lead cut to one-point in the first three minutes of the final quarter, refused to shoot from the field, and finally this strategy paid off as the desperate Redbirds began fouling.

Pinckneyville, scoring on 38 of 45 free throw tries, with 18 of these gift markers in the final quarter, may have set a tourney record in this department.

Jim Lazenby, the Panther floor leader, hit 16 straight free throws, then missed one and had 22 of 23 for the night. Lazenby was high scorer with 26 points. Pinckneyville tried only one field goal in the last quarter—it missed just before the gun.

Marshall Gets Lesson

Quincy gave Chicago Marshall a lesson in how basketball is played downtown. Marshall, public league champion with a 20-2 season record, was rated by many as a favorite because of 6-foot-8-inch Arthur Day. Day lived up to advance billing quickly, scoring six points in 55 seconds from right under the basket.

But Quincy Coach George Latham, who has brought the Blue Devils to the finals in five of the last six years, called a timeout and when the Blue Devils came back on the floor they had Day solved.

Latham stationed 6-foot-3 Seymour Bryson, 6-foot-4 William Rineberg and 6-foot-2 Ronald Hellhake around Day. Even when Rineberg was benched with four fouls midway in the second quarter, reserve Arthur Robbins took up the slack and Quincy slowly pulled ahead.

Quincy also taught Marshall a lesson about screening, drawing Commandos Bill Chapman and Frank Miller into repeated fouls as the two crashed into screening Quincy players in trying to follow the ball.

Quincy, with Bryson and Robbins scoring from underneath, and Hellhake showing one of the best shooting touches in the tourney from outside, extended its lead from four points at the half, to nine points at the three-quarter mark and 11 at the finish.

Day got 24 points, six under his public league average, to lead the scoring. Hellhake had 23 for Quincy.

Montreal Mob Riots After Idol Suspended

MONTREAL (AP) — An uncontrollable mob forced National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell to seek haven in a clinic and then went on a wild looting spree today because their idol, Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, has been suspended for the rest of the hockey season.

Campbell remained in the clinic only a small time and then was spirited away by a police guard which he had refused Thursday night when he attended the game between the Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings.

More than 15,000 demonstrators broke up the game shortly after Campbell's presence became known. They climaxed their angry outbursts by dropping a tear gas bomb near seats taken by Campbell and Richard.

Campbell was slapped by an irate young supporter of Richard. The league president was escorted to safety by police through a barrage of eggs, overripe tomatoes and water-filled paper bags.

Loot 46 Stores
The mob also smashed windows of firms in the neighborhood and early this morning looted 46 stores, taking items ranging from expensive wrist-watches to electric toasters and radios.

Police Lt. John McTaggart said 47 persons, including 27 under 16 years old, had been booked on an assortment of charges in connection with the riot which caused the game to be forfeited to Detroit, which was leading 4-1 when the uncontrollable disturbance started.

Forfeiture of the game may cost the Canadiens the league title.

Richard, hero of French Canada and the "Babe Ruth" of hockey, had left his seat in the Montreal Forum only a few moments before the tear gas bomb landed only a few feet away.

After the demonstrators were ordered out of the Forum, they turned their vengeance against the building, citadel of hockey in Canada.

Massed Outside Forum
Police said 4,000 fans, led by University of Montreal students, were massed outside the Forum before the order to evacuate was given on the inside.

Richard was suspended by Campbell for the balance of the season and for the playoffs after attacking a player and a linesman in a game at Boston last Sunday night. It was the stiffest penalty ever dealt the "Babe Ruth" of hockey during his stormy career.

Administration Plans Release of 1949 'White Paper'

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration plans an early release of wartime documents designed to repudiate the Truman administration's 1949 "white paper" on U. S. relations with China.

Coming on the heels of the Yalta papers, the new series on China is sure to figure prominently in Republican - Democratic campaigning in the 1956 elections.

The 1949 China "white paper" pinned principal blame for Nationalist China's loss of the mainland on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and his Kuomintang Party. It rejected the Republican charge that the Democrats at least shared the blame for the loss of China to Communism.

Plans for the special China series call for publication of one 1,000-page document for each of the years beginning in 1942 and running through 1949 when the mainland was lost to the Reds.

The first 1942 of the special series on China is set in galley-proof now. It is slated to be published "this summer."

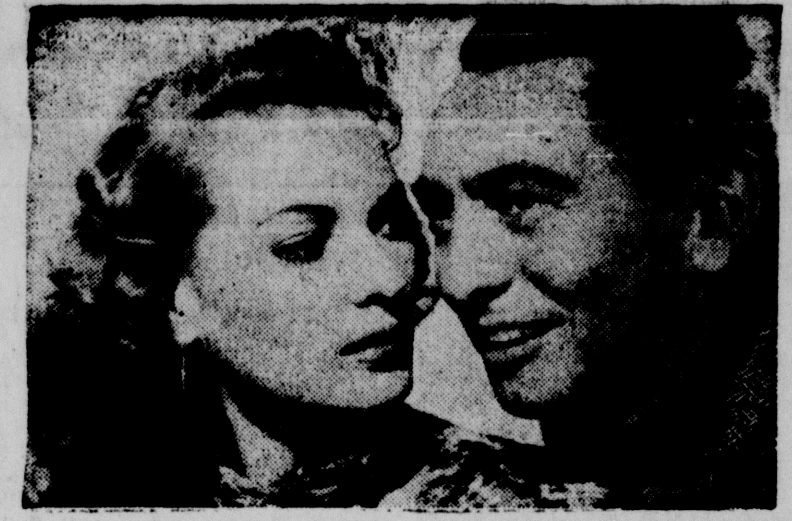

Galley proofs of the China papers will be sent to Formosa for clearance whenever they involve documents which originated in China years ago.

The 1949 China white paper was put together by former Ambassador-at-Large Phillip C. Jessup.

THE STORY: A goose bank given to Johnny Fletcher and Sam Cragg to settle an old bill is very important to some people. Alice Cummings gave the bank to Johnny and a short time later Jess Carmichael, III, wealthy playboy, was found murdered in her apartment. While Johnny was being hired by the murdered man's father to trace Lester Smithson, a cousin of the murdered man and now the heir to Carmichael millions, Sam is lured away by kidnapers. It might be one of several characters who kidnaped Sam. One of them is J. J. Kilkenny, a bill collector, who got them into this caper.

THE cab took Johnny to Madison Avenue and turned north. A few minutes later, Johnny got out and gave the driver $1.00. "Can you wait here?"

"If it ain't too long."

"It shouldn't be over 10 minutes."

Johnny walked a short distance and entered an office building. He consulted the building directory and rode up to the ninth floor. A moment later he stood before a ground glass door on which was lettered "Acme Adjustment Agency."

There was a small reception room and apparently two private offices. A secretary with incredibly long, pointed nails was idling with a typewriter.

"The boss," Johnny said.

"What's your name? I'll see if he's in."

"Cragg, Sam Cragg."

"What you want to see Mr. Hammer about?"

"About a man named Kilkenny," Johnny replied. "He works here."

"Well, what about him?"

Johnny pointed to the private office. "Hammer, that's who I want to see. In fact—" He suddenly shoved open the wooden gate and strode toward Hammer's private office. The receptionist let out a scream, but Johnny paid no heed. He slammed open Hammer's door and found Mr. Hammer whipping open the right-hand top desk drawer.

Mr. Hammer was a squat, bald man who perspired copiously. He kept his hand in the top drawer. "What do you mean, butin' in like that?" he snapped.

"You've got a man named Kilkenny working for you."

"Have I?"

"If you haven't, then I've given money to a crook."

Hammer's attitude changed. He actually raised his right hand out of the desk drawer, although he kept it near. "You paid money to Kilkenny? On an account? Your name, please?"

"I told the girl—Sam Cragg."

Hammer went quickly over a file of cards and extracted one. "Sam Cragg, ah yes, Ajax Mandolin Company. You say you paid Mr. Kilkenny on this account? Mr. Kilkenny gave you a receipt, of course?"

"He gave me nothing."

"Then I'm sorry, Mr. Cragg. Our collectors are instructed to give receipts at all times. If you cannot produce one, I'm afraid the account still stands. And since this is long delinquent, I must insist upon prompt payment."

"Or else, what?"

"Or else I shall start immediate suit. Hey—wait a moment, here's a notation from J. J. Ah, yes, this alters things considerably. It seems, Mr. Cragg, that you pawned this instrument." Mr. Hammer beamed happily. "That, sir, is where you made your mistake. Selling property you did not own takes it out of the civil court and puts it into the criminal. Yes, Mr. Cragg, you've overstepped yourself. You will pay this bill—at once, sir—or I shall clap you into jail."

"I think it's a lot of hooey," snapped Johnny. "Look, I haven't got time to shilly-shally around."

"And all I want from you is $67!" Miss Trout appeared in the doorway. "Telephone for a policeman, Miss Trout."

"Yes, Mr. Hammer!" The girl turned and headed for the phone on her desk.

Johnny stepped to the door. "Put down that phone!"

"Oh-ho!" cried Mr. Hammer. He whipped back to the desk drawer and drew out a short snub-nosed revolver. "Vengeance, Mr. Cragg? All the more reason to call the police."

Miss Trout was already dialing. Desperately, Johnny cried, "I'll pay!"

Johnny counted out $67 and put the rest of the money back in his pocket, carelessly revealing that one packet of bills consisted of hundreds. Mr. Hammer noted it greedily.

Johnny held it in his hand. "Here's the money, now let's talk. Your Mr. Kilkenny is involved in the Jess Carmichael murder."

"You're wasting time."

"Alice Cummings," Johnny said, pointing to the file cards. "Look it up—you collected money from her yesterday. Miss Cummings happens to be the little lady in whose apartment Jess Carmichael was murdered. And your Mr. Kilkenny just happens to be in it up to his fat ears."

The collection agent smiled thinly, but there was uncertainty in his eyes.

"None of this will do you any good."

"All right," said Johnny grimly. "Look at your cards—I dare you. If Miss Cummings's name isn't on one of them, I'll give you $100."

Hammer reached for the cards. "I'll just prove to you you're..." His fingers ran over the cards, stopped. His eyes narrowed and he shot a quick covert look at Johnny. Then he drew out the card.

"Just who are you, Mr. Cragg?" he asked slowly.

"First of all, I'm not Sam Cragg," Johnny said.
